

Development of Robust and Flexible Software

Name YOSHIZUMI Keiichi E-mail kei@tsuruoka-nct.ac.jp

Status Professor

Affiliations IPSJ (Information Processing Society of Japan)

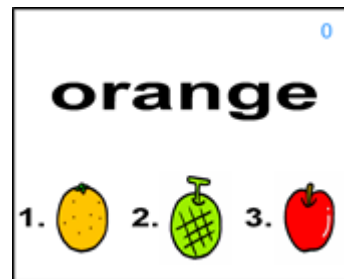

Keywords Information Processing Education, Programming Language, Web Applications

Technical Support Skills

- Information literacy education
- Manners of E-mail, Web information retrieval
- Web application programming

Research Contents

- IT Education: We have the education results about the usage of the Internet, for example netiquette, server construction.
- Software using computer networks: We develop the information collection and management systems using the computer network.
- English teaching materials software: We develop the English teaching materials software to use in the lesson of the elementary school. Our aim at the development of the software is teachers of the elementary school can operate it easily.

FlashWords

EnglishTest

(Screen images of applications under development)

Available Facilities and Equipment
